School Announcement

*Model UN Meeting on *Climate

The model UN will meet on April 22nd to discuss climate related *issues. April 22nd was chosen because that is Earth Day. Twenty students *representing ten nations will join a group discussion on the issues around climate. The goals of this panel discussion are to teach students about the different issues connected to climate change, and also to help students understand how people from different countries may feel about the issues.

If you are interested in participating in the Model UN, please contact Mr. Okajima before February 14th to ask how to apply. Participants will be told which country they will represent, so you will not be able to choose your country. Model UN looks great on college *applications and is a great experience to help broaden your world view, so we hope you will all consider *applying to participate.
